

Cindy Lee, professor of Environmental Engineering and Earth Sciences at Clemson, spoke about the work that Clemson University has been doing with PCB-contaminated sediments and soils at the Pickens County PCB Superfund site on the Twelve Mile Creek watershed.

Ada Lou Steirer received the Spirit of Democracy for her Leadership both in the League and in public service. She is a strong advocate for environmental protection, improvement in education and active citizen participation. More on this award to her in the May 2012 issue of the newsletter.

